

Music Teaching Matters

November 5, 2024 - No. 33

Welcome to Music Teaching Matters - tuning in to our students with ideas and inspirations from Teach Music 21C.

Have you ever had a week of teaching that really made you stop and think - What's going on? Why is this happening? Most likely you have. So you won't be surprised if I tell you that last week was one of those weeks when I realized a group of my students had been stuck on a plateau for quite some time. Now that November is rolling in, I'm thinking it's time to do something about it. Read more... All the best in your teaching! Merlin Thompson

3 Steps to Successful Music Lessons

Unlock your students' potential with these proven strategies:

- 1. Create safe learning spaces by getting to know students' interests and goals.
- 2. Encourage students to use their reflective capacity to identify what's working and what's not.
- 3. Fill in the gaps when students need your help. Implement the above strategies and watch your students thrive!

Music Making in Our Lives

Why are human beings so enraptured by music making? What is it about music making that people from cultures around the world find so natural and meaningful throughout their entire lives? Through music making, we get to know ourselves and the world around us. Music making is accessible to anyone, in any place, and at any time. There are no age limits on music making nor how often it's allowed. Why is this important for music teachers? Read more...

Food for Thought

Never underestimate the power of success.

Students with ownership of success are more likely to build on their success than students who can't see how they're successful.
